Rehab!

by Deb Bruner

Rehab!

How many of us realize that rehab has a growing place in veterinary vocabulary? Until a couple of years ago, I had never really heard of a rehab vet much less worked with one. I have a “regular” vet; I’ve worked with specialists like cardiologists and neurologists; I’ve worked with a holistic vet and a chiropractor for animals; and I’ve had my dogs in hydrotherapy with certified hydrotherapy personnel, but a rehab vet and I had never crossed paths before I started working with one in 2023.

According to Grand View Research (whom I quote from throughout this article), “The global veterinary rehabilitation services market size was estimated at USD 792.4 million in 2022 and is expected to expand at a compound annual growth rate (CAGR) of 11.7% from 2023 to 2030. The growing number of companion animals & pet humanization trends, increasing prevalence of musculoskeletal & orthopedic disorders among animals, and rising awareness among pet owners regarding physical rehabilitation as non-invasive & drug-free treatment are some of the key factors driving this market.”

Wow, right? “Pet humanization trends”...“non-invasive and drug-free treatment ...”

Rehab vets and their rehab assistants diagnose and prescribe therapeutic exercises that include balance therapies, weight shifting, weight loss therapies, treadmills, cavaletti rails, balance discs, and peanut balls, among other things. Such exercises can help dogs with chronic conditions such as arthritis or those recovering from debilitating musculoskeletal or orthopedic surgery. Dogs with neurological conditions can benefit from physical rehab exercises too in that they catalyze healing processes and speed up the return to and promote overall energy and health.

Veterinary hydrotherapy rehab includes underwater treadmill exercises and swimming. The buoyancy of water enables animals with painful conditions to move their muscles with less pain and stress. Hydrotherapy can also increase joint flexibility and range of movement. Hydrotherapy is typically used for obesity, neurological conditions, post-orthopedic surgical recovery, diabetes, atrophy and other injuries. It’s a fast-growing segment of veterinary rehab.

While researching this article and sharing my own experience (see below), I came across the following from Grand View Research:

Orthopedic surgeries for companion animals are one of the common procedures that veterinarians perform to treat musculoskeletal issues. Post-operative patients are more likely to consider rehabilitation to reduce inflammation & pain and to improve the healing rate. Physical rehabilitation therapy after surgery has become more common in the veterinary field with newer advancements, which further contributes to segmental growth.

My introduction to a rehab vet came via fellow agility competitors and not from a vet. In fact, not one of the vets or specialists whom I worked with in regard to Blitz (story below) ever mentioned working with a rehab vet. Hydrotherapy and water treadmill work were mentioned by one of my vets (and I had used therapeutic swimming with Schips in my past) but that was the extent of suggested non-medical, follow-up care for a slipped disc Blitz was suffering from. (As an aside, when I finally did end up working with a rehab vet, she said that neither of these suggested options were really appropriate in his treatment). I could be wrong but I don’t necessarily think surgeons or family vets really know much about this specialty field of rehabilitation ...I’m curious exactly how fast this field is growing but I will attest to its value. The growing adoption of pet insurance with rehabilitation services coverage is certainly helpful to dog owners who wish to pursue rehab. Rehab does require time and money to be successful.

My path to working with a rehab vet is as follows:

In late summer of 2022, my Blitzzen on occasion started emitting a small yelp when picking him up. I wasn't seeing any issues with his movement and we were competing in agility at the time. Still, it was something I noted and kept an eye on. Fast forward a few weeks and my little guy was hunched over in acute pain and panting after eating. I made an emergency vet visit where all kinds of tests were run and while my vet said on appearance it looked like a stomach issue, she suspected that his back was bothering him. I was sent home with muscle relaxers and gabapentin, neither of which touched his pain and hunched-over posture. Blitzzen was in great discomfort and I was desperate to get an accurate medical diagnosis.

I followed up with an internist who ran an ultrasound to rule out any internal problem, but she too suspected back issues and prescribed Metacam (meloxicam) to see if that would help control his pain. Voila! The Metacam provided instant relief for Blitzzen, indicating a back issue. I then followed up with a neurologist for an MRI and consult; without going into details, this first neurologist was exasperatingly frustrating to work with whereas an appointment with another neurologist proved to be the golden ticket as he knew exactly what the problem was: a type of acute-on-chronic slipped disc (which, by the way, will never present by palpating a dog like Blitzzen's back). Long-term use of Metacam was prescribed along with halting of all activity (which of course had already started but crate rest was of course proposed). Surgery wasn't an option with his type of slipped disc. I was told I could consider hydrotherapy at some point but without any referrals or details as to how to proceed exactly.

In Blitzzen's case, hydrotherapy was a nonstarter. While two of my previous Schips worked well in a pool for treatment of arthritis, Blitzzen hated being handled in the water and he refused to kick his back legs. After a few weeks of no progress, I was advised to try him on a water treadmill, which I pursued for a few months. The problem with the water treadmill was that the rehab tech at the vet where this device was located was on maternity leave and a "regular" vet tech was trying to follow her guidance for how to work with Blitzzen. I saw zero improvement with water treadmill work. As I later learned, water treadmill sessions weren't really appropriate for Blitzzen AND I wasn't working with someone knowledgeable about the limitations of water treadmill therapy. Sigh.

In talking to some agility friends about Blitzzen's issues, several suggested I work with rehab specialist Dr. Leslie Eide of The Total Canine in Marysville, WA (about an hour's drive from me) as she had a reputation for helping so many performance dogs. Meeting with Dr. Eide and her assistant Emma was TRANSFORMATIVE. She began with analyzing his stance to measure muscle strength and loss, then reviewed the medication program, then taught me physical therapy (PT) exercises (usually 2 or 3 at a time) to work with Blitzzen on. For a couple months we met weekly, then every two weeks as Blitzzen started to regain strength (and happiness). Dr. Eide and Emma said I should see improvement with Blitzzen in about 12 weeks and they were spot on! Within a matter of months we were able to taper off his pain medication and just stick with PT. To this day, Blitzzen remains medication free (except for the occasional odd moment when he might feel sore due to activity) and he is moving very well for an almost 12 year old retired athlete. He loves his PT exercises (synonymous with treats, of course) and offers all kinds of behaviors when I bring out the PT equipment (I invested in a few pieces of equipment totaling a few hundred dollars, and my pet insurance reimbursed me for them).

Working with a rehab vet DOES require time on a pet owner's part. I work with Blitzzen 3-4 times a week, for maybe 15 minutes max each session (could be as short as 5 minutes per session). But working with him consistently is key to maintaining optimum flexibility and mobility. As with most pet parents, I will do ANYTHING for my boy Blitzzen to give him the best possible life as he ages. Will I continue to routinely see Dr. Eide with Blitzzen? Absolutely. His level of comfort and mobility will require our team effort.

As I mentioned above, I wasn't aware of what a rehab vet was until my agility friends told me about their experiences. When my regular vet sees Blitzen these days, she is most in awe over Blitzen's progress and now sends a diverse number of her pet clients Dr. Eide's way for help; these animals could be post-surgical, elderly, lame, whatever. I truly hope rehab veterinary medicine does indeed continue to grow and grab the attention of pet owners/surgeons/family vets. Also mentioned above, my pet insurance covered not only the traditional vet visits, ultrasound, MRI, etc., but they also cover all of Dr. Eide's visits and PT devices. Anyone considering pet insurance should become familiar with a company's policies when it comes to rehab services.

Dr. Eide is also helping one of my other Schipperkes for hypermobility in his knees, and he too is improving nicely. I've actually had her analyze all my Schipperkes to verify they are physically sound for the performance sports we participate in. I am proud to say I'm a lifelong client of Dr. Eide so long as I own my Schipperkes. I encourage all Schipperke owners to seek out the services of a rehab veterinarian whenever an issue arises.

For reference, Dr. Eide can be found at www.thetotalcanine.com. Her website has all sorts of material!

The Schipperke Club of America Experience

Friday, April 19, 2024.

The long-awaited date finally arrived and excited doesn't even come close to describing how I felt about attending my first Schipperke Club of America (SCA) National Specialty. Plans to attend began approximately 12 months prior and I could hardly believe it came so quickly.

I flew out of Halifax, NS to Ottawa, ON where SCC President Marnie Layng and her husband John of Mardeck Schipperkes from Brockville would meet me at the YOW –Ottawa MacDonald–Cartier International Airport. Aside from arriving in Ottawa in the rain and a bit of a luggage scare, day one went off without a hitch. Marnie and John welcomed me into their home and spare room. I covered my room and board with a few pounds of fresh lobster meat which was served up as a lobster fettuccine Alfredo dish for dinner.

Sky

Saturday morning Marnie and I prepared to drive to New York State where we would spend the night with SCC Member Ursula Hutton and her husband David of Deloran Schipperkes at their home in Cazenovia, New York. We had a lovely dinner at the Hutton's. Ursula and David were superb hosts. The three of us gals set out early the next morning to meet up with SCC Members Larry Wolfe and Melanie Pacanowski along with Danielle Muessigbrodt in Buffalo, New York. From here we traveled caravan style straight to Wilmington, Ohio. Riding beside me in the back seat was Canada's top Schipperke for 2023, CH Mardeck N'Oasis Mystic Wheel in The Sky. She was my pal for the week. Being the young-blood among us 3 gals I was Sky's caretaker on the trip, and I loved every second. It was a long day, 8 hours plus driving time but once we arrived and checked in to the beautiful Roberts Centre Holiday Inn, the events of the week ahead came to life, and we agreed it was well worth it

Monday was the first day of the Parent Club Specialty. The day began meeting up with Lesley Thorne (Schipdale), her son Michael along with Sue Hood (Arathorn) who arrived overnight from the UK. It was an early 8 am start with Puppy Sweeps that saw an entry of 44. That was followed by Veteran Sweeps with an entry of 18. Junior Showmanship had 6 entries and Beginner Puppy had 1 entry. The Specialty Show started at 11 am with 129 entries! By this point I was completely overwhelmed with the number of little black dogs abound. We didn't miss any of the judging except for the obedience which was held in a separate ballroom. Yes, that's right, ballroom. This facility is classy, many ballrooms for various events. Conformation was in one, Obedience in another and Agility in another. A welcome gathering was held Monday evening in one of the hospitality rooms where everyone was able to get together. Gift bags were provided along with ice cream treats.

The following day the SCA National, judging began and let me tell you the judges had a very tough job. I was in awe at ringside at the sheer volume of Schipperkes, this was the most I had ever seen in one place. I watched 79 Schipperkes enter the ring on the Tuesday, it was a sight to behold. The conformation classes shown on that day were Stud Dogs, Brood Bitches, Braces, Beginner Puppy, Futurity and Maturity. Obedience and Rally had a combined entry of 45 Schipperkes! Top 20 pre-judging was in the afternoon. This consisted of each of the top 20 entries being judged by 3 judges. One judge was a breeder judge, one an all-breed judge and one a professional handler. The big event, the Top 20 Invitational, was held that evening.

That was pretty special. Exhibitors were dressed to the nines and even some of the Schips were sporting little tuxes. This event had its own catalogue where each entry had a full page featuring a full colour photograph, the registered name of the Schipperke, owner, breeder and pedigree. Plus, each page had a write up about the dog. Each entry also had a song chosen. One by one each Schipperke entered the ring and was showcased to their song playing. The music ranged from Frank Sinatra to Garth Brooks, to Elvis Presley, to Tom Jones. There are too many to list, but every genre of music was covered. There was one Schipperke at a time showcased in the ring, a truly special moment for each. This was an enjoyable evening with a wine and spirits bar as well as a dessert bar.

AM CH Oasis I Walk The Line "Cash"

Wednesday the SCA National judging continued with Puppy Sweeps starting at 8 am with an entry of 48, followed by Veteran Sweeps with 18 entries. Parades of Titleholders and Veterans followed with 45 entries! Once again, I was in awe of all these beautiful little black dogs under one roof. A Pet CPR/First Aid course was held in the afternoon as well as a breeder education seminar. I took the afternoon off; I was due for a rest. There was a lot of walking and even more sitting, both of which are hard on my arthritic body, I figured I had earned it. After we had our dinner at Ralph's American Grill, which was in the hotel, a "Let's Make a Deal" Fundraiser was held. It was a successful event bringing in some cash for the Club.

The following day the Regular and Veterans Classes for dogs, bitches were on tap. The entry of 76 Schipperkes began early morning with Judges Education held in the afternoon as well as a Junior Handling Clinic. That evening the SCA Annual Membership Meeting was held which I was able to attend as a guest. This provided the opportunity for me to sit in on a in-person meeting that was held following very closely Robert's Rules of Order. That evening was the Awards Banquet where a beautiful buffet of food and desserts was available to those who purchased tickets. There was also a Silent Auction where I was fortunate enough to have the highest bid on a gold-plated pewter Schipperke necklace.

Friday was the grand finale with Best of Breed judging that saw 61 entries! Junior Showmanship, Best Bred-by Exhibitor, Best Puppy and Best Veteran were judged following Best of Breed. Judging lasted for a good part of the day, and I was again overwhelmed by the sheer numbers and quality of Schipperkes in front of me from ringside.

This trip was an experience of a lifetime for me. Our group had a ton of fun! We had a block of rooms at the hotel with Ursula, Marnie and me sharing a room that was adjoining to Larry, Mel and Danielle's. Lesley, Michael and Sue were right across the hall, also in adjoining rooms. We spent our days and evenings together either attending SCA scheduled events, gathering for dinner at Ralph's or sharing pizza in our room. Mel surprised Marnie with their favorite, Peanut Butter Pie and there was plenty to go around. The camaraderie will be forever remembered and cherished.

Saturday morning, we packed up and headed back to Ursula's following behind Larry in the U-Haul - caravan style. Marnie and I spent the night with Ursula and Dave and then back to Brockville Sunday morning. My buddy Sky stayed behind with Larry and Mel to be shown in the US this year and we brought home with us BISS, NOHS BIS, BIS, GCHG Mardeck's Iridessa (Dessa) to ease into her retirement alongside her mom Mystic at Marnie and John's.

I stayed on with the Layng's for an additional 2 days where I got out to see a bit of the countryside including checking out the new show site for the 2024 SCC National and Regional Specialties in Athens, ON. Tuesday, we made the trip back to the YOW where I caught my flight back to Halifax. I can't thank the Layng's enough for their generosity and hospitality. I am so looking forward to returning in August for the SCC Specialties, lobster in tow.

Cheers!

NEW CHAMPION

AKC CH Kurakuma's The Night Witch

"Fiona" is the 3rd fully tailed AKC female Champion in Schipperkes.
She won a 4 point major under Gloria Kerr, and a 5 point major under Linda Hurlebaus.
Many thanks to these judges for recognizing her excellent quality!

Why "The Night Witch"?

As soon as I heard the story of the "Night Witches" in WWII, I knew I had to name a Schipperke that. They were a group of about 80 Soviet women who wanted to fight in the war against the Nazis, so they were given obsolete two-seater Polikarpov PO-2 biplanes made of wood and fabric. The women flew these plans into enemy territory with no radio, no guns, no parachutes and only two bombs. When they selected their targets they would cut their engines and swoop in silently, making only a "whooshing" sound, which resembled a witch's broomstick. Though they were not numerous enough to have a huge strategic impact, their psychological impact was so steep the Nazi's dubbed them "Nachthexen" or "Night Witches", and offered awards and honors to soldiers who shot them down. They flew multiple missions a night, returning each time for more bombs, knowing if they were hit they had no parachute to save them.
